Gold Star
Your Future is Bright

Personal Profile – Nicolas Herbert

About Me

Hi! I'm Nico Herbert, founder and owner of GoldStar Learning. What drives me isn't just helping students succeed—it's my genuine passion for learning and discovery. I specialize in standardized test prep (SAT, ACT), creating video course content, and personalized academic coaching for K-12 students. Having built GoldStar from the ground up, I'm committed to creating an environment of collaborative learning, where every student can unlock their full potential.

Academic Approach

My approach centers on connection and relatability. As someone who recently navigated the pressures of testing, AP courses, and college admissions myself, I understand exactly what today's students face. I don't just teach content—I share the strategies and confidence-building techniques that actually work because I've lived through these same challenges. Whether you're targeting top colleges or need consistent academic support, I adapt my teaching to match how you learn best.

Beyond academics, I'm passionate about exploring the world around me—hiking mountain trails, training in boxing/MMA, and traveling to new locations. Here are some of my favorite moments outside the classroom:
